Jeffrey C.H. Page, MBA is proud to announce the formation of iip❖group. We have formed iip❖group to provide healthcare technology products, services, and consulting to medical practices throughout the Midwest.

In the rapidly changing world of healthcare information technology, iip❖group is uniquely poised to lead an industry that is predicted to experience explosive growth over the next several years. The future of healthcare not only resides in providing excellent care to patients, but in coordinating the complex information surrounding that care. iip❖group provides innovative information solutions to address that.

In sharp contrast to most other industries that have computerized their core business functions very aggressively, healthcare has lagged behind. While some physicians' offices have introduced computerized scheduling and billing, virtually none have made even tentative steps towards computerizing their clinical information. The iip❖group's vision points to integrated healthcare information solutions supported by the highest quality service.
